OHIO'S STEEL PLANTS AGAIN IN OPERATION

Workers Return As Wage Agreements Are Signed: Fabricators Hit

(By Associated Press)
A four-week strike ceases in most of Ohio's major steel producers today, thus ending the gravest industrial crisis in the history of the state.
Official termination of the nationwide strike was 12:01 a. m. today for companies which have signed new wage agreements with the CIO-United Steelworkers.
Company officials said the number of workers back on the job would continue to increase as plant operations picked up and their services could be used. Estimates on the time necessary to resume full production varied from one to four weeks.
Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., which reached an agreement yesterday, Republic Steel Corp., and a number of U. S. Steel subsidiaries, were among the main Ohio plants starting up operations.

Among Those Signing
Those still to sign up with the steelworkers included Copperweld Steel of Warren, Sharon Steel Corp. in the Youngstown district, Jones & Laughlin, which has a Cleveland plant, and a number of fabricators.

A possibility of settlement of the dispute at Timken Roller Bearing Co., which has 14,000 employees in Canton, Wooster, Columbus, Mount Vernon and Zanesville, was in prospect. Company officials said they would grant the 18 1/2 cent hourly pay increase which has been the basis of settlements so far.
Republic employees some 56,000 persons in its steel and fabricating plants, with some 28,400 working in the Ohio area of Cleveland, Youngstown, Warren, Niles, Canton and Massillon and Wythe.
U. S. Steel Corp. subsidiaries affected by the back-to-work order include the American Steel & Wire Co. plant employing 5,000 in Cleveland.

FOUR FROM U. S. PARTICIPATE IN RITUALS TODAY

(By Associated Press)
VATICAN CITY, Feb. 18.—A secret papal consistory, in a history-making ceremony, created 32 new cardinals today, and papal emissaries immediately formally notified 29 of them that they had been elevated to the rank of prince of the Roman Catholic church.
The papal emissaries delivered Biglietti (formal notes) of notification to the cardinals soon after 10 a. m. (4 a. m. EST), following a secret consistory of the sacred college in Consistory hall. Three of the designates became cardinals in absentia.
The college went into session at 9:35 a. m. and adjourned 35 minutes later. Pope Pius XII and 28 of the 37 members of the college were present, and participated in the centuries-old ceremonies.

Four From United States

The pontiff declared the designation of the new cardinals—including four from the United States—put into a "new light" the universality of the church.

After adjournment, emissaries took word of the appointments to the designates, assembled to receive the second highest honor their church can bestow.

The new United States princes of the church are: Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York City, Samuel Cardinal Stritch of Chicago, John Cardinal Glennon of St. Louis and Edward Cardinal Mooney of Detroit.

It was the largest number of new cardinals ever created at one time in the history of the Roman Catholic church.

The Pope told the consistory that he had long meditated the creation of the new princes of the church, but that the war had prevented his acting until the present time.

"The universality of the church is brought under a new light since the church does not belong to any one race, one people or one nation, but to all people of the human family," the Pope said.

Archbishop Josef Windszenty, primate of Hungary and one of the 32 new cardinals, was scheduled to arrive here during the day in a United States aid transport plane. Finally granted Russian clearance to attend the consistory, the archbishop was slated to leave Budapest this morning.

Archbishops Johannes DeLong of Utrecht and Jules-Geraud Salgue of Toulouse were unable to attend because of illness and became cardinals in absentia.

Twenty-eight of the 32 new cardinals are non-Italians, and 11 come from the new world.

Congratulations Tomorrow
The new cardinals will receive official visits of congratulation today and tomorrow. For these visits, each cardinal wears a cassock with a train of purple cloth tied with a Turn to CARDINALS, Page 8

SAYS TRUMAN PROGRAM CAN BE EFFECTIVE

Stabilization Director Urges Extension Of Price Control

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Chesler Bowles told congress today the nation faces an inflationary explosion with pressure "up to the bursting point."
But he declared that President Truman's new wage-price policy is "a program that will work" with "little or no effect" on food, rent or clothing prices if the bulge in the stabilization line is not permitted to become a break-through.
"I think it is a good program, and I mean to put everything I've got into making it succeed," the newly-designated stabilization boss said in testimony prepared for the house banking committee.
Bowles appeared to urge extension "at the earliest possible moment" of the price control and other stabilization acts now set to expire June 30.

He called, too, for action by congress to "stop the inflation in the real estate market" if the administration's new homes-for-veterans program is to succeed. And he said the food subsidy program must be continued.

Stresses Gravity of Situation
It would be difficult, he told the committee, "to exaggerate the gravity of the inflationary crisis we face. . . . Everywhere men are betting on inflation. . . ."

"A speculative fever has taken hold of the country. The pressure in the boiler is up to the bursting point. The lobbyists and the profiteers are licking their chops. It is going to take a firm and decisive action. . . . If we are to hold this country on an even keel."

Turning to the new program, which removes the six-month waiting period before industry can ask for price increases to offset wage boosts and provides that such boosts conform to industry or area patterns, Bowles asked himself:

"Does this mean general price increases throughout the entire economy?"

"Emphatically, it does not," he declared, "and it is vitally important that we understand why this is so."

Gives Explanation
"First of all, let's remember that the number of industries which have been, or are likely to be, forced below their pre-war earnings for any reason is relatively very small. The present pattern of wage increases can be, and in many instances has already been, established in scores of industries with no price consequences whatsoever."

"It is generally true of such industries as the food processing and petroleum industries where labor cost is a relatively small part of the total sales dollar. It is true of the apparel industry and many others where labor costs represent a higher proportion of total costs—but where profits generally have been abnormally high."

"It is less true of some of the metal using industries where labor costs, direct and indirect, represent a sizeable factor in the total price."

Bowles said food prices represent 40 per cent of the total cost of living, rents 19 per cent and clothing 12 per cent and that in each case the new policy will have "little or no effect."

"And what is true of food prices, rents and apparel prices," he continued, "is generally true of furniture prices, the prices of house furnishings and services. It is in some of the metal using industries, a relatively small section of the cost of living line, where some price increases will be needed."

Fairness Objective
Saying all requests for further "bulges" will be asked on pleas of "fairness," the price chief declared: "There is probably far more fairness of income distribution in our economy today than on any previous point in our peacetime history."

"If we strive now to work out all the unfairnesses which remain we shall only succeed in blowing up our entire anti-inflation program with resulting disaster to everyone."

Taking note of contentions that full industrial output is impossible under price control, Bowles said "the record clearly proves that this is nonsense. Today production is surely at the highest point ever achieved in peacetime. Unemployment is at the lowest peacetime point in 20 years as many people on our payrolls as in our best wartime year."

MULLINS YET TO RESUME

Company Awaits Price Details Before Granting Wage Boost

The Steelworkers strike which made the large U. S. Steel Corp. plants idle throughout the nation is over, but the strike at Salem and Warren Mullins Mfg. Corp. plants is not.

Pickets here and in Warren, who took up their duties four weeks ago today, were still at their posts this morning.

The only change in the Salem situation, which has 1,200 workers idle, was that an increase in interest was shown around the employment gate at the Salem plant's Railroad st. entrance.

Wondering workers gathered in small groups there this morning, but no one entered the plant to return to work.

Actually, according to information from an unofficial source at Mullins, the situation here is unchanged, despite the end of the U. S. Steel strike.

A great many steel manufacturers and practically all fabricators affected in the four-week-old walk-out are still without price data and information on which to begin negotiations with their respective CIO unions.

The government's stand on price control, although announced in a general way, is still far from detailed enough to give plants like those of the Mullins Corp. enough to begin collective bargaining.

Consequently, negotiations here between management and the union will not begin until information as to costs of materials from Mullins' suppliers can be obtained to compare with wage increases asked by the union.

Justice Department Official Subpoenaed In Pauley Case

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The senate naval committee subpoenaed a ranking justice department official and a Chicago radio station executive, for questioning today on Edwin W. Pauley's nomination to be under secretary of the navy.

A banking subcommittee also arranged to hear witnesses opposing the selection of Commodore James K. Vardaman, Jr., President Truman's naval aide, for a 14-year term on the Federal Reserve board.

The senate itself appeared set to confirm a third appointment, that of George E. Allen, former Democratic national secretary, to a two-year term as a Reconstruction Finance Corp. director despite Republican opposition.

Possible Ickes Successors
There remained too the possibility that Mr. Truman might decide quickly on a successor to Harold L. Ickes as secretary of interior and send his name to the senate. Speculation still listed Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), Associate Justice William O. Douglas and Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma among the top possibilities.

Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) said that at the request of Sen. Tobey (R-N.H.), chief opponent of Pauley's confirmation, the naval committee had ordered Assistant Solicitor General Harold Judson and John L. Ackerman of radio station WBBM Chicago, to appear for testimony today.

Committee members who did not want to be quoted by name said they assumed that Judson was called to testify regarding what Tobey has called "quit claim" legislation under which the government would renounce any claims to title of off-shore oil lands.

Point of Controversy
Tobey contended before the committee last week that Pauley was the actual drafter of this pending legislation, a point in controversy between Pauley and Ickes.

Ackerman, reached at Chicago, told a reporter he expects to be asked about Pauley's part in a controversy over a California legislative proposal.

Ackerman, formerly manager of radio station KPAS at Pasadena, was executive secretary for the southern California Democratic campaign committee in Los Angeles in 1940.

CURLEY GETS JAIL TERM, $1,000 FINE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Rep. James M. Curley, 71, who is also mayor of Boston, was sentenced in federal court today to serve from six months to a year and six months, and pay a $1,000 fine for mail fraud.

Sentenced with him for activities in Engineers Group, Inc., an organization that the government contended collected $60,000 by representing its ability to get war contracts for clients, were Donald Wakefield Smith, former member of the National Labor Relations board, and James C. Fuller, now serving a five-year sentence at Atlanta for fraudulent use of the mail.

Fraudulent Judge James G. Proctor sentenced Smith to serve from four months to one year and one day and pay a $1,000 fine and Fuller to serve from 16 months to four years.

The three men have announced their intention to appeal to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Eagles Initiate 32 New Members At Sunday Rites

The initiation of 32 new members highlighted the observance of the 43rd anniversary off the Quaker City aerie No. 216, Fraternal Order of Eagles, yesterday in the lodge home.

Main speaker on the program was Robert H. Maxson, Ohio worthy vice president of the Akron aerie, who reviewed his association with the Salem aerie from the time of his initial visit here in July, 1929, when the present lodge home was dedicated.

"I have watched this aerie grow for more than 16 years," Maxson said, "and its membership has jumped by leaps and bounds—especially in the past two years. When I made my first visit here in 1929, the aerie had but 600 members and now it boasts more than 1,000 and is classified as a Class A aerie."

Praises Officers
"Such progress can be gained only through the work of an organization's officers and members. This aerie has been the sparkplug of the district in enrolling new members in the past several months."

Jesse Gray of Salem and George Gamble of Minerva, only two living charter members of the aerie, were introduced.

Others who spoke briefly included Alden Smith, H. W. Peasley and J. L. Barnhouse, all past worthy presidents, Secretary Don H. Harvey and President A. J. Ellis.

Initiatory rites were carried out by members of the McKeesport, Pa. aerie team. The McKeesport drill teams, national champions since 1934, gave an impressive performance following the initiation.

Following the program, a dinner and dance were held for Eagles and their families and friends.

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—The arrival of several FBI men from Washington stirred speculation here today of possible developments affecting the United States in connection with the Canadian government's inquiry into an alleged leakage of "secret and confidential" atomic information.

It was learned that the inquiry into the case—which an authoritative source said involved the transmission of atomic secrets to Russia—had spread to London, where a Canadian official was reported taken into custody for questioning.

Twenty-two employees or former employees of the government previously had been rounded up in Canada in connection with the investigation.

Nothing To Celebrate

The temptation is strong to say that everything is going to be pie in the sky and love in bloom because a couple of mixed-up men in Washington finally have made a decision that enables the steel industry to resume production at higher wages and prices.

But it takes no more than a minute's thought to realize that the pie is a long way off and killing frosts may nip the love blooms. The more the public dwells on the implications of the steel strike and the means of settling it, the more the public is likely to wonder what there is to celebrate in the fact the country has quit pounding its own head with a hammer.

The United States had a fighting chance to crawl out of the disaster of World War II without touching off the unexploded bomb of inflation, which means, in simple words, loss of confidence in the buying power of a dollar bill. So far, we have done everything possible to blow up the country.

The settlements—so-called—of this and that crippling strike are not settling anything. What they add up to, in effect, is an edict that henceforth there must be more money for less work. Gone now is the nonsense of 30 per cent boosts in wage rates with no boosts in price. The potential inflation that lurks in every war is a lot less potential and a lot more actual—and fully hasn't run its course yet.

We are hoping to bribe back a semblance of the production that won the war by paying a premium for it. We have fiddled away six months of golden opportunity since the end of the war—and have fiddled them away with such Nero-like fervor that it will take a few more months just to get over the consequences of the steel strike. And though it isn't pleasant to think about, there is no assurance whatever that other big strikes may not tie up reconversion for many more months. There still are coal and railroads; either could do it.

Certainly there is nothing in the latest reorganization of Washington's confusion or in the attitude of the labor leaders who decided to change the nation's pay rates before they would permit reconversion to make anyone think the postwar strike wave is over.

Management still hasn't been let in on the prime secret of the new order, which is why it alone should be interested in staying in business when labor and politicians expect to share in the benefits. There is no assurance that it isn't going to be the same old game over and over again, but each time with the rules rigged a little tighter against the fellow who meets the payroll and pays the taxes.

His instinct as an American businessman tells him that price-boosting is not going to solve anything. That isn't the way free enterprise made history in the United States. The fellow who meets the payroll and pays the taxes wants to make more and more for less and less, not less and less for more and more. He wants to pay high wages out of production, not out of inflation.

It can still be done. It will be harder now than it needed to be, and more dangerous. Time is running out. Uncontrolled and uncontrollable inflation is ticking away ominously, threatening to blow up whatever security was in the war.

It seems better to wait for the proof of the pudding which is the eating and to wait for the eating until the concoction cools off a little. The end of the steel stoppage may be a masterpiece. It may be a headache.

Washington Will Be Swamped

The chief difference between the government's new master plan for raising wages and the plan used during the war is the shift of authority from the defunct War Labor Board to the National Wage Stabilization Board.

The latter's policy on wage increases will be laid down, apparently, by Chester Bowles, who becomes national stabilization director. In that post, he will be under Reconversion Director John W. Snyder, with whom he was supposed to be having differences.

Washington will be swamped in short order with applications for wage increases up to the indefinite limits described in the presidential order reshuffling the bureaucratic confusion. The applications will be accompanied by justifications for price increases. These will have to be processed. The story of the defunct WLB, which became a kind of sticky pigeon-hole for filing away cases that the government wanted to stall off as long as possible, seems likely to be told again.

Instead of a Little Steel formula for deciding what wage earners should receive, the Wage Stabilization Board will use a new formula that seems to limit increases to somewhere between 15 and 18 per cent. The formula for price increases apparently is based on what will be theoretically large enough to assure profit equal to the average during the three prewar years, 1936-1939. Except for 1937, these were depression years. Many employers will find them unacceptable as a comparison for postwar business.

Obviously, the latest rearrangement of bureaucratic confusion will have a chance to show what it can do; there is no alternative. But the omen for success is not bright, if only for the reason that no Washington agency could begin to handle the volume of cases that now must be referred to it. Either the cases will be handled quickly and badly, or they will pile up. If they pile up, the result will be to make the paralysis of production that is the main threat to stabilization worse, not better.

Political Illiteracy

The strong case for more understanding of free enterprise being made by Dean James E. McCarthy of Notre Dame's school of commerce needs to be made even stronger.

Dean McCarthy believes if more Americans knew what made jobs they would be less likely to follow leaders who are tearing down free enterprise. He pleads for a campaign to increase the nation's "economic literacy."

But unless instruction in the plain facts about jobs and free enterprise also included fundamental training in politics, "economic literacy" wouldn't clear the air.

The United States needs A-B-C instruction in politics to show the people how they are being manipulated by persons whose only interest in free enterprise is to get rid of it.

What often appears to be ignorance about American economics is only ignorance about schemes which fool workers into grinding some of the political axes being sharpened at America's expense.

The country is full of examples of workers who have been tricked by smooth operators into doing things against their own best interests. These workers are not ignorant about economics. They are merely ignorant about the high-powered schemes "politicians" are practicing at their expense.

Not all the "politicians" are in government. Some of them are in the labor movement. They preach various ideologies. Some of them believe in free enterprise. But some have other fish to fry—and at frying they are experts. They are so slick that the ordinary American worker who thinks of a politician as Senator Claghorn or the Fred Allen show hasn't even discovered yet that he is being played for a sucker and furnishing the bait.

Dean McCarthy is rightly concerned about the ignorance of Americans concerning the source of their economic strength, but he should be concerned also about the manner in which the political wool is being pulled over the people's eyes.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, February 19.

THIS may be a day on which it may be a profitable idea to "expect the unexpected" since there is a sign indicative of a sudden and unpredictable state of affairs, of radical force and long-range results. While novelty, innovation, ingenuity and rare skills may turn the balance toward the lucrative side, yet a resort to impetuous acts and emotional decisions might alienate those who might be disposed to be of practical service and co-operation.

A discreet use of glamor, "soft soap," strategy and secret agreements might go far in offsetting devastating or tricky circumstances.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the brink of a spectacular year in which sudden and unforeseen situations may upset all pre-arranged plans and objectives. Such unusual predicaments may be turned to good account by the use of ingenuity, creative skill in novel or experimental lines, and keen thought, but would be adversely complicated by rash, impulsive, harsh measures or emotional decisions, while tactful, strategic or intriguing connivance might beget far-reaching, even romantic, adventures and progress.

A child born on this day will have much ingenuity, originality and creative ability, but its success might be defeated by rash, harsh or impetuous moves or emotionalism. Slavery and grace might prove more lucrative.

A wife can make a home happier with more skilful and less panning.

Many a man owes his success to a cool, level head—his wife's.

Penicillin Treatment Internally

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WHEN penicillin was first discovered and used in the treatment of disease, it was given by injection because when taken by mouth it was destroyed in the stomach.

More recently, a number of penicillin preparations have been made available which can be taken by mouth and which seem to be quite effective when administered in this way.

Unfortunately, as with all new so-called "wonder" drugs, many people think that they can take these penicillin pills for curing practically all ailments.

Of course, medical men know that penicillin is not effective against all diseases, although it is most useful in treating many infections, among them boils and carbuncles, meningitis, pneumonia, pus in the chest cavity, infected burns, infections of the bones and the heart.

It is useful in trench mouth, anthrax, actinomycosis, and even diphtheria, infections of the throat, and infections which develop after teeth are extracted.

But the taking of penicillin when it is not indicated is in a certain way dangerous. By doing so a person may breed within himself strains of germs which become resistant to penicillin. Furthermore, these germs may be passed on to other persons. Then, when infection as a result of these germs occurs, the penicillin is tried and it does not work.

Proper Amount When the doctor finds that penicillin is necessary and the proper amount is given, the doctor can assure himself that the germs which are causing the infection are actually gotten rid of or rendered harmless. But when a person tries to carry out this treatment himself, he cannot be sure that the infection is really eliminated and he not only may infect others, but his own condition may gradually become worse.

The amount of penicillin to be used will depend on the type of infection present as well as on its severity. Recent studies by Doctors Alden K. Boor and C. Phillip Miller of the University of Chicago have shown that penicillin not only has the power to stop the growth of disease germs and even kill them but it also has an antitoxic effect. That is, it serves to neutralize or get rid of the toxins or poisons developed by germs.

Saved From Death These physicians found that, by giving penicillin, animals could be saved from death that usually follows the injection of certain poisons produced by the germs which cause meningitis. The penicillin will not get rid of the meningococcus poison when the penicillin is mixed with the poison but in some way or another within the body the penicillin does have the effect of neutralizing the action of the toxins.

Of course, a great deal further study will be needed to determine exactly what this newly discovered effect of penicillin is and how it may be utilized to the fullest.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS O. H.: Occasionally I have cramps in my legs. Please tell me what causes this.

Answer: When cramps in the legs occur at night, they are due to fatigue or to the fact that the legs are cold. Wearing extra socks and using extra covers sometimes are helpful.

What you should do is to improve your circulation by getting outdoor exercise, plenty of rest and sleep and eating a well-balanced diet, containing an abundance of vegetables, fruits, whole-grain cereals, milk and butter, with meat and eggs in moderate amounts. Also, drink plenty of water.

U. S. Farm Outlook For '46 Promising, Anderson Reports

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson looked beyond the current period of world food shortages today to plan for the time when American agriculture again may be confronted by price-depressing crop and livestock surpluses.

He saw high-level employment at good pay for consumers as the primary solution for the problem, with development of exports and of industrial uses for farm products as other necessary factors.

"Now that the war is over, we are moving back," he said, "toward our old position of virtual security in the matter of the food supply."

"In 1946, it will be difficult to meet total requirements for American farm products; the relief demand, commercial exports, and our needs will substantially exceed the supplies available. This, however, is just the current outlook."

Makes Annual Report

The secretary, in his annual report to the President, went on to say that the present demand situation "is not necessarily a sign that agriculture will permanently have adequate markets."

He explained that agriculture emerges from the war with an expanded productive capacity, and added that such capacity does not readily contract.

Anderson expressed the view that if agriculture is not to suffer economically from this increased productive capacity, it must help see to it that full employment at good wages is maintained for those working outside of agriculture and that steps are taken to hold a "considerable" portion of the present export market.

Among the needs of the future, the secretary said, are changes in the marketing system to narrow the spread between prices received by farmers and prices paid by consumers.

One enlarged market possibility for farmers seen by Anderson is expanded industrial utilization of farm products. Development of such a market will depend, he said, upon a high level of industrial activity, technological advances, and the formulation of pricing policies that would encourage industrial use of farm products.

Says Churches Fail In Sunday School Teachings

COLUMBUS, Feb. 18.—Christian parents must become the chief teachers of religion, supplementing the inadequate Sunday school session, a report to the International Council of Religious Education asserted today.

A council committee, after studying Christian education in this nation for the past two years, declared bluntly:

"The reason most Sunday schools are inadequate is 'lack of planning, slovenly performance of accepted duties, and disinterest on the part of ministers as well as laymen in this fundamental phase of the church's work.'"

SOFT WATER SERVICE LLOYD M. GORDON PHONE 6717

Dorothy Zeck Is Married To George C. Vogelhuber

One of the most beautifully appointed weddings of the season was solemnized at 1:30 p. m. Saturday in the Emmanuel Lutheran church when Miss Dorothy Hilda Zeck and George Curtis Vogelhuber exchanged marriage vows in the double ring ceremony. Rev. John Bauman, the pastor, officiated.

Vases of white snapdragons and white schizanthus, with palms and ferns, were used in the artistic altar decorations. White tapers in tall seven-branch candelabra were placed on either side.

The musical prelude played by Mrs. W. J. Seeman, church organist, included: "Through the Years," "Liebestraum," "I Love You Truly," and "Hold Thou My Hand." She accompanied Mrs. E. C. Hammill, Jr., who sang "The Ring" and "Because" before the service, and "The Lord's Prayer" after the minister pronounced the couple husband and wife.

The bridal chorus from Lohengrin heralded the approach of the bride, which was led by the ushers, Richard Zeck, brother of the bride, and Joseph Vogelhuber, brother of the groom. They were followed by the bridesmaids, Mrs. Joseph Vogelhuber, sister-in-law of the groom, and Miss Ruth Zeck, sister of the bride.

The maid of honor, Miss Louise Zeck, sister of the bride, preceded the bride. She came in with her father, Michael Zeck, who gave her in marriage. They met the groom and his best man, John Vogelhuber, a brother, at the altar.

Wears White Taffeta Gown
The bride wore a lovely white gown created of brocaded taffeta. It was styled with a shirred bodice, sweetheart neckline, long sleeves pointed at the wrist and a full skirt. Her finger-tip veil was trimmed in deep lace and fell from a tiara or orange blossoms. She wore a string of pearls, a gift from the groom.

Her shower bouquet was of white roses, buddleia and maiden hair fern, centered with an orchid. Louise Zeck, maid of honor, appeared in a yellow dotted swiss gown fashioned with a tight fitted bodice, pointed in front, a net yoke with a high neck line, long puffed sleeves and a full skirt. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations, daffodils, acacia and iris.

Ruth Zeck, bridesmaid, wore a pink net gown over satin. The fitted bodice had a set-in yoke, three-quarter length sleeves, and was attached to a full skirt.

Mrs. Vogelhuber, the other bridesmaid, wore a net gown over taffeta, fashioned similar to Ruth's. They carried bouquets of daffodils, iris and acacia.

All three wore short net veils, in matching colors to their gowns, held in place by a tiara of flowers.

The bride gave her attendants compacts, while the groom gave his attendants initial tie pins.

Mrs. Zeck chose for her daughter's wedding a black dress with matching accessories and Mrs. Vogelhuber's dress was black with harmonizing accessories. They wore corsages of red roses and stefanotis.

50 At Reception
Approximately 50 guests were entertained at a reception at the bride's home. The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and graced by a large tiered wedding cake topped with a wedding bell. Bows of white schizanthus were used in the dining room decorations.

Mrs. Vogelhuber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Zeck of Jennings ave., is a graduate of Salem High school. She has been employed in the Murphy store.

Mr. Vogelhuber, discharged veteran, is a son of Mrs. Mary Vogelhuber of E. Fourth st. He was graduated from Salem High school and Ohio State university. He holds the position of fiscal auditor in the War department in Washington, D. C.

The couple left Saturday night on a honeymoon trip. For traveling the bride wore a black suit with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Vogelhuber will make their home in Washington, D. C.

Out-of-town guests were from Canton, Warren, Cleveland, Elyria and Toronto.

Farr Class Will Meet At McConner Home
The Farr class of the Christian church will be entertained at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. F. L. McConner, 345 W. State st. Mrs. Homer Hilliard will be associate hostess.

Needlecraft
Needlecraft was served with Valentine appointments by a committee including Misses Alice Hertz, Betty Minamyer, Mary Theresa Bohr, Mary Ciricosta, Jean Scullion and Betty Lynch.

Another veterans' social will be held March 3 at the hall.

Birthday Party Held For Clarence Flitcraft

A buffet lunch was served. The refreshment table was enhanced with flowers and a decorated birthday cake. Mr. Flitcraft was presented gifts.

Among the 30 relatives were Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Flitcraft and family and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Patterson and family of Alliance; Mr. and Mrs. Landis McFarland and family of Leetonia, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brian of the Damascus rd.

Couple Are Honored At Dinner Sunday
Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Walton were honored at a family dinner Sunday at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ceville, W. Third st.

Places were arranged for 19 guests at a table centered with an angel-food cake and pink decorations. Guests were from New Garden, Wilona and Salem.

SIDE-SWEPT PROFILE HAT IMPORTANT IN SPRING TREND

The side-swept profile hat, worn off the face and definitely to the side, is one of the very important trends noticed at spring millinery fashion showings. Designers have interpreted this silhouette in varying ways, and the above photos show some of the ways this trend is used. At the top left is a swashbuckling bicorne made of black and white hand-blocked linen, and was designed by Anita Andra. The hat shown below, by G. Howard Hodge, has been given a Mexican feeling in a white straw braid sombrero with high, telescoped crown and side-draped high cuff brim, accented with wide bands of navy blue grosgrain ribbon. Another Anita Andra model, right, suggests the nearness of spring. It is a dinner hat fashioned entirely of sweet peas in mauve, pink and lavender, tied with forget-me-not blue grosgrain bows. The cascade of blossoms is continued by a matching corsage pinned high on the shoulder.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Beats Them All

So Easily Mixed! No Cooking! Saves Big Dollars. Real Relief.

Yes indeed, this home-mixed cough syrup, made in your own kitchen, is one of the most effective things ever found for coughs due to colds. It's so easy to mix, a child could do it. And it saves good money, too. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, if desired. Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from your druggist, and put it into a pint bottle. Then fill the pint with your syrup, and your money will be refunded.

Thus you make a pint-a family supply-of really excellent cough medicine. It gives you about four times as much for your money. Tastes fine-children love it-and it never spoils. The way this simple mixture takes right hold of a cough, is truly surprising. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritation, eases soreness and difficulty breathing, and lets you get restful sleep. You'll swear by it. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, known for its quick effect on throat and bronchial irritations. Just try it, and if not pleased in every way, then fill the pint with your syrup, and your money will be refunded.

Avoid Traffic Dangers By Keeping Car Repaired

Causes of the present traffic slaughter are given by Col. George Mingle, head of the state highway patrol:

1. Overage cars.
2. Inexperienced, out-of-practice and inconsiderate drivers.
3. Depleted police personnel and police equipment.

We can accomplish much as individuals regarding the first cause, even though our cars are old, we certainly can have them inspected and kept in reasonable repair instead of being indifferent until they just "won't go" then rush to a garage.

Regular inspections made by competent mechanics such as are employed at the H. I. Hine Motor Co., on W. State st. will reveal in advance the worn parts, that would, in a short time be the cause of an accident. If we will continue to keep our cars in the best possible repair many accidents can be avoided.

TRANS-OCEAN AIRLINES WEAVE NET TO SHRINK WORLD

Aided by long-range planes developed during the war, U. S. and foreign airline operators are rapidly expanding their trans-oceanic lines to cobweb the world with air routes. MACKENZIE'S Column

BY DE WITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

HERFORD British Occupation Zone. In Germany, Feb. 18—If there are any who doubt the necessity of a protracted Allied occupation of the Reich they will find confirmation of the need written on the faces of the German people.

The Germans are beaten physically, but while they are temporarily in a chastened frame of mind from terrific punishment they aren't beaten mentally.

If restraint were removed from them now, the old arrogance and militaristic aggression would return in time. You get that from the glances of cold hatred or the looks of disdain which many of the grownups give an Allied uniform.

For the most part the youngsters are friendly enough—and that is an important point to bear in mind. But many—though not all—of their elders have a very understandable aversion to their conquerors.

Now I don't want to convey the impression that the Germans are eager to renew their assault on the rest of the world, for they definitely are not.

The point is that if the Allies don't take advantage of this temporarily chastened frame of mind by keeping the lid on and trying to create peace-mindedness among the coming generation, then the efforts on the battlefields will have been lost. That's where the friendliness of the youngsters comes in. It's through educating them that the German reform must be achieved.

The elderly folk are passing out of the picture. The largely still youthful Germans who were won over by Hitler are lost to the Allies. It is upon the children that peace must be built.

There's another interesting and important feature that you note in this zone which includes not only great agricultural areas but the coal mines and industries of the Ruhr. Under the firm but progressive administration which Field Marshal Montgomery established in the British zone the Germans of all classes are jumping in and working like troopers to repair the ravages of war. Everywhere the farms are being worked up to the last inch of ground available.

In the Ruhr many mines are partly in operation producing coal for which all western Europe is waiting anxiously and in the devastated cities and towns the people are salvaging bricks and reconstructing abodes of sorts—frequently very crude. It is an amazing spectacle, but the point to which this column wants to direct your attention is that the Germans—at least in this zone—haven't lost their spirit in the disaster which has overwhelmed them.

They are the same hard working, systematic and persistent folk upon whom the Prussian militarists and finally Hitler have depended for strength to carry out their schemes for conquest.

That is an energy which must be guided into the right channels and held there until a new generation of peace minded Germans can be reared.

It's an energy which can do great and fine things or which can cause incalculable damage. In any event it is something which can't be stopped, for it is a fundamental part of German character. It has to be harnessed.

Lady Nearly Choked While Lying In Bed— Due To Stomach Gas

One lady said a few days ago that she used to be afraid to go to bed at night. She was swollen with stomach gas, which always got worse when she went to bed, and the gas would rise up in her throat after she lay down and would nearly choke her. She couldn't lie flat. Had to prop herself up on pillows. Recently this lady got ERB-HELP and now says gas is gone, stomach feels fine, bowels are regular and she can go to bed and sleep soundly.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering. Get ERB-HELP! Lease Drug Stores.

Magic Quakers' Showing Boosts Chances In Tournament

Guesswork Places Salem's Five As Favorite Against 14 Of 24 Sectional Foes

That magic "something" which has gotten into Coach Bob Miller's Quakers has a host of Salem fans wondering just what the chances of the Quakers are in the approaching Class A sectional-district tourney.

Salem, a team which began its year with two wins, then slipped into a six-game losing streak, has shown remarkable improvement in its last nine games.

Since breaking the losing streak by defeating Kent Roosevelt, 34-33, in an overtime, the Quakers have defeated Youngstown Rayen, East Liverpool, Girard, Canton Lincoln, Wellsville and Struthers.

They have lost to Warren and Alliance during the last nine games. In all the cases of victory, except for Wellsville and Girard, the pregame dopests favored the Quaker opponents to a great extent.

Why the sudden reverse? One answer for Quakerdom to ponder is that the comparatively "green" varsity men who started the season without a veteran to give them confidence, have suddenly realized that they can go the limits with the best of them.

The victories over Youngstown Rayen, the photo-decision Alliance gained over Salem, 39-37, then the upset of East Liverpool, seem to have blessed Miller's lads with a confidence (not to be confused with over-confidence) which may carry them far in tourney circles.

The whole answer to Salem's tournament chances will be well settled, as at least on paper, after the pairings are made at Youngstown South High at 7:30 p. m. to-night.

Salem figures to be pitted with a field which includes Alliance, Brookfield, Campbell, Canton's Township, Lehman, Lincoln, Timken and McKinley, East Palestine, Girard, Hubbard, Louisville, Minerva, Newton Falls, Niles, Struthers, Warren and Youngstown's Boardman, Chaney, East, Rayen, South, Ursuline and Wilson.

Of that field Salem has already met and been defeated once by Canton Lehman, once by Warren and twice by Alliance. Whether or not the Quakers have improved enough to take any or all of those three opponents is also food for thought.

Salem has defeated Canton Lincoln, Girard, Struthers and Youngstown Rayen, a team which could possibly be seeded in the sectional pairings tonight.

Of the balance of the field Salem could, with guesswork involved to a strong degree in some instances, be logically favored over Brookfield, Campbell, Canton Township, East Palestine, Louisville, Minerva, Newton Falls and Youngstown's East, Chaney, South and Ursuline.

Besides Alliance, Warren and Canton Lehman Salem would be definitely the underdog or at least a 50-50 shot against Canton Township, McKinley, Timken, Hubbard, Niles and Boardman.

Figuring it down to that degree a recapitulation shows that at least five teams would be considered a favorite over Salem should the Quakers meet them. Those are: Alliance, Canton Lehman, Canton township, Warren and Canton McKinley.

Salem probably would rate an even chance against Canton Lincoln, Canton Timken, Boardman or Niles.

The balance of the field would probably rate as underdogs if they clashed with Salem. Those include: Brookfield, Campbell, Girard, Hubbard, Louisville, Minerva, Newton Falls, Struthers, East Palestine and Youngstown's East, Rayen, Chaney, South and Ursuline.

JEFFRIES, KNEPP SHINE AS LEGION TOPS DARLINGTON

Cavaliers Fail To Extend Quaker Frosh Five, Bow 31-21

Sparked by the superlative rebounding and all-around play of big Bob Jeffries and Les Knepp, the Salem Legion quintet smashed a winning streak for another rival in tripping the Darlington, Pa., Vets, 44-25, Saturday on the Memorial building hardwood.

The Pennsylvanians, whose tallest man failed to top the six foot mark, found themselves hopelessly outclassed at controlling the backboards and thus went down to their first defeat in 12 starts.

Jeffries and Knepp accounted for 31 points between them, most of them on tip-ins after teammates had failed to connect with the hoop.

The speedy invaders kept themselves in the game throughout the first two periods with a fast-breaking attack but fell down defensively in the second half when their zone defense was unable to cope with the locals' ranginess.

The win was the fifth in six starts for the Salem five.

In the preliminary contest, the undefeated Cavaliers of the Class B city league found the Salem High freshmen a bit too tough and were forced to swallow a 31-21 defeat.

The yearlings were hard-pressed in the first frame and led only 7-5 as the second quarter opened. By halftime, however, the Quakers had a 17-6 advantage and the contest was never in doubt from that point on.

Pivotman Dick Tolson turned in his best offensive performance of the season to pace the frosh in the scoring column with 10 points. Andy Parlow flipped in a like number for the Cavaliers.

It was the 10th consecutive triumph for the freshmen who have yet to taste defeat.

LEOPOLD FAVORED IN BELGIAN VOTE

BRUSSELS, Feb. 18.—Final results of the Belgian election Sunday gave the right wing Catholic party, pledged to return King Leopold to his throne, 92 seats today in the chamber of deputies but left it short of a majority of the 202 members.

Premier Achille Van Acker's Socialist party ran second with 70 seats. The Communists won 23, the Liberals 16 and a new party of the Democratic union, the U. D. B., one.

By custom, the Catholic leader, Baron Henri Carton de Wiart, will be asked to form a government. The returns showed a gain of 19 seats for the Catholic party since the last elections held in 1939.

The Brussels radio said today that Socialist Premier Achille Van Acker had offered the resignation of his government to Prince Regent Charles following yesterday's national elections.

The regent asked Van Acker to continue in office temporarily, the broadcast said.

The Catholics, pledged to Leopold's support, favor a referendum on the question of his return from the exile to which he was forced by the combined action of the Liberals, Socialists and Communists.

Approximately 2,000,000 persons voted in the elections.

Hirohito Declares Japan's Recovery Depends On U. S.

BY RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, Feb. 18.—Emperor Hirohito told three American newspaper executives in a rare interview today that the speed of his beaten nation's recovery depends on the cooperation of the United States.

In an atmosphere of unusual informality, the emperor received Robert McLean, president of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin and The Associated Press; Norman Chandler, president and publisher of the Los Angeles Times; and Benjamin McKelway, editor of the Washington Star.

They discussed a wide range of subjects non-political, with the emperor observing at one point: "MacArthur is a very great man."

American troops are conducting themselves "cooperatively," he said.

The 30-minute interview—longest audience ever granted foreign newspapermen—was given at a rare invitation to tea extended during the executive's tour of the Pacific as guests of the war and navy departments.

By prior agreement, the Americans avoided discussion of political subjects.

"The main theme of the conversation was cooperation," McLean observed.
